If you can't beat 'em, kill 'em. That seems to be the modus operandi of the violent Left (<https://www.bizpacreview.com/2020/02/08/teacher-who-said-its-awesome-rush-limbaugh-is-dying-and-hoped-for-painful-death-is-put-on-leave-884720>)

, after a van plowed into a pro-Trump voter registration tent in Jacksonville, Florida. Hours later, Gregory Timm – the suspect in what some are calling a politically motivated “attempted mass murder” – was arrested.

The Jacksonville Sheriff's Office arrested Gregory William Loel Timm, 27, after he was identified as the person who drove the van through a GOP voter registration tent.

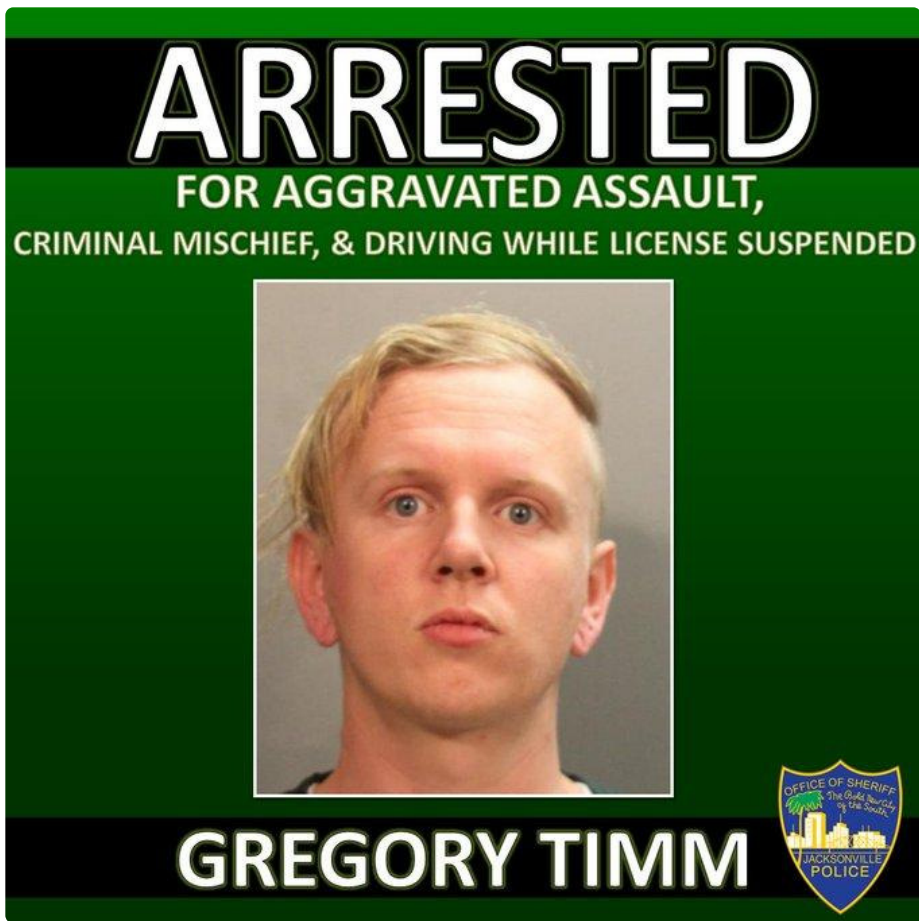

Timm was charged with aggravated assault, criminal mischief and driving with a suspended license, the Sheriff's Department tweeted at 2 a.m. Eastern time.

The shocking attack occurred Feb. 8 at 3:50 p.m. ET in a Walmart parking lot, where six volunteers from the Duval County Republican Party were registering voters in a tent.

There were several signs that read “Trump-Pence” and “Join the Landslide: Trump 2020” near the tent. That’s when Timm screeched up in his van, plowed through the tent, and knocked it over.

Fortunately, no one was killed or hurt. But the incident sent shock waves among the volunteers, who never imagined that they could be killed for registering Trump voters. “It happened so quickly. I just barely got out of the way,” volunteer Nina Williams told News4Jax (<https://www.news4jax.com/news/local/2020/02/08/police-van-drives-through-republican-partys-voter-registration-tent/>)

Mark Alfieri, another volunteer, said the van came to within six inches of the group.

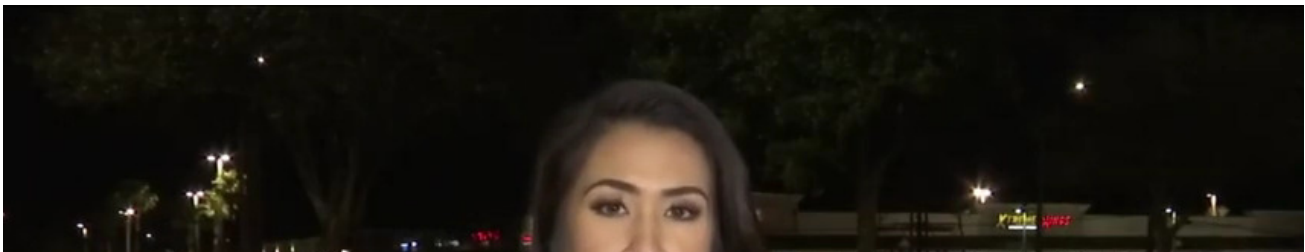

“Out of the blue, a man approached us in a van, was waving at us, kind of a friendly demeanor,” Alfieri told

Action News (<https://therightscoop.com/van-drives-into-pro-trump-volunteers-registering-voters-in-jacksonville/>)

. “I thought he was coming up to talk to us. Instead, he accelerated his vehicle and plowed right into our tent and our tables.”

Alfieri said afterward, Gregory Timm got out of his van and gleefully recorded the damage on his cell phone. He then gave the volunteers the finger before fleeing the scene.

“After he ran over everything, he backed up, took out a cell phone [and] recorded the damage,” Alfieri recounted. “[He] made some obscene gestures at us and then proceeded to leave the complex.”

President Trump reacted to the attack on Twitter, warning: "Be careful, tough guys, who you play with!"

Dean Black, the chairman of the Duval GOP, condemned the attack in a statement:

"We are outraged by this senseless act of violence toward our great volunteers. The Republican Party of Duval County will not be intimidated by these cowards and we will not be silenced.

I call on every Republican in our great city to stand up, get involved, and show these radicals that we will not be intimidated from exercising our Constitutional rights."

The Republican Party of Duval County said they will redouble their efforts to register voters following the senseless attack.

This is a direct action implemented by our public school system that hates the country and anybody who disagrees with them. Until public schools are seriously revamped these actions will continue. Public schools are nothing more than Communist and violent indoctrination camps.
